Comments or questions (8,192 characters max): Dear Supervisors,

My husband and I are 27 year residents of SLO County, we live in the unincorporated area of the northwest portion of the county, not far from Justin Winery and the Resnick project. We moved here from Santa Barbara County where we were priced out of any kind of land in the early 1980's. We came here as a young family in 1989 and built a modest house on the top of a hill previously owned by the Von Dollen family who were dry farming grain crops at that time.

There was not a single tree on our property when we bought, they were all removed in the 1940s for the purpose of farming the hill sides. We have subsequently planted over one hundred tress, including oaks. We now have quail and roadrunners and elk and all kinds of song birds including Meadowlarks and Red tailed hawks that are thriving here now. It is very nice to have wildlife around the house, and to have brought up our children appreciating where we live

We have been good stewards of our 19.4 acres and have nursed a well for 27 years through several droughts. We ration water and always have, never taking it for granted. We let our beautiful green sod lawn go several years ago because we could not rationalize watering it throughout the hot summers with the current drought conditions. We did this in spite of our neighbors putting in more and more vineyards and olive orchards and using our shared aquifer to water them. We are however, supporters the local wine industry, we drink a lot of local wine and are friends with many wine makers and people employed in the wine business. We understand there is a balance between all of us here and until recently it has worked in my opinion.

All that said, we are appalled at what has gone on under all of our noses (including the County) in regard to the Justin project and the removal of thousands of Oak old trees and the reservoir construction since 2011! We immediately got involved on social media to support the grass roots groups that quickly formed to question just how this could happen in our county.

I am specifically talking about Protect the Oaks on facebook, a group of about 4,400 members now. I'm not even going to go into what kind of people I think the Resnicks are, that is pretty obvious to us all by now! While we are in favor of personal property rights in general that allow people in the unincorporated areas to do pretty much what they want with their land, we think that we have certainly reached a tipping point in the county in regards to Oak tree removal and water usage. We strongly urge you to pass the emergency ordinances this week. It is obvious that we now need laws to protect the rest of us who have done the right thing for so long. We cannot invite big corporations to come in and rape the land and then "apologize" for their horrible behavior, "donate" the said ruined land and get a slap on the hand.

Thank you Jill and Alex Baker

Comments or questions (8,192 characters max):

I ask that the Board of Supervisor's take action to protect our native plants and wildlife from those who wish to rape and pillage our rural areas. Blatant disregard for the land, environment, and community must be halted. As for AG ponds (if you consider water storage facilities that hold 600 million gallons of water a 'pond') Stop the practice now. For those in place it should be mandatory that they be covered. The evaporation rate is staggering. What a waste. Please put some of the County employees no longer being utilized as spokespersons for the water district that was posed to work doing something really constructive, like over seeing the county's ag land for new development and implementation of the new ordinances I hope you adopt.

Thank you
